The different stories of these coldblooded killers kept me reading from page to page. Psychologically these people were screwed up. The majority because of tragic childhoods. I myself, didn’t have a very good childhood. The difference is, I didn’t become a murderer. In fact, a lot of people didn’t have great childhoods and they didn’t become killers. Very interesting to me.

This book kept me interested till the end of the story on how this serial killers kill their innocent victims and what are their stories why they became serial killers and how they got caught.
